LONDON, March 21.—The German battleships Scharnhorst and Gneisenau, most powerful units of the Nazi navy, are roaming the western Atlantic, probably only 1,500 miles from New York, it was announced in London today.

These two formidable vessels, each approximately 26,000 tons, are those allied to by Prime Minister Winston Churchill in his speech before the Pilgrims' Society on Tuesday.

At that time, Churchill emphasized the ever-growing menace to British shipping on the American side of the Atlantic.

German raiders, Churchill said in welcoming United States Ambassador John C. Winant, are now in action west of the 42nd Meridian. Even battle cruisers of the Nazi fleet, he said, are at work in what are now regarded as "American" waters.

Ships Referred To

The ships he referred to are the admiralty revealed today are the Scharnhorst and Gneisenau. Actually they are battleships, but because of their tremendous speed of 27 knots, the British refer to them as battle cruisers.

Both the Scharnhorst and the Gneisenau, each named after a famous German admiral of World War days, have played important roles in the war.

German cruisers of the same names were sunk in the battle of the Falkland Islands on Dec. 8, 1914.

According to British claims, the Scharnhorst was damaged in a clash (Continued On Page Two)

PA NEW OBSERVES

After ascending the East Washington street hill, into the 600 block, a large truck trailer pulled away from the tractor, and dropped with a loud thud to the ground Thursday afternoon about 4 o'clock. A street car was immediately following, and it and a long line of traffic was soon tied up. Happening when traffic begins to be very heavy, it was quite a task for the police to keep traffic moving.

A rooster crowed triumphantly this morning, announcing to an East Side neighborhood that "Spring is Here." His cheerful crows continued incessantly, and he strutted about with confidence that he was positive that snow flurries were past history.

After reading the item in Pa New column in The News of Thursday, from an "Ellwood Reader," Owen Fox states that he doubts that the bird described is a cedar waxwing. As there are only a few tufted species of birds, such as cardinals, titmice, blue jays and horned larks that inhabit this vicinity, at this time of the year, his above decision corresponds with the description given. The cedar waxwing is one (Continued On Page Two)

PLYMOUTH, Eng., March 21.—Buoyed by a message of confidence delivered by King George only a few hours before the raid began, this ancient English port today dug itself out of the wreckage of a Nazi air attack that ranked with the worst in the war's history.

The king came to Plymouth to inspect the city's defenses. He visited air raid shelters, air fields and gun emplacements and took occasion again to assure the people that neither air raids nor attempted invasion could dim the nation's courage.

LONDON, March 21.—While German raiders hammered London and the southwestern coastal city of Plymouth, R. A. F. bombers attacked Lorient on the Nazi-occupied French coast during the night, the British Air Ministry announced today.

The British assault on Lorient—one of Germany's main submarine bases—was understood to have been heavy. Unfavorable weather prevented R. A. F. attacks on Germany during the night.

This latest R. A. F. raid was the second successive attack on Lorient. It indicated the British air force is waging a vigorous campaign against German submarine bases in an effort to hamper German U-boat activity in the Atlantic.

British Freighter Badly Battered But Reaches New York

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, March 21.—Given up for lost as victim of a German submarine's torpedo, the British freighter Empire Attendant, hove over the horizon today and steamed in slow triumph up the harbor to her scheduled pier.

The 8,400-ton craft bore unmistakable signs of battle, her rail shattered and her aft mast shorn away but her captain and crew were grimly silent on orders of British officials in New York.

The Empire Attendant was given up for lost after reportedly being torpedoed by a Nazi U-boat 1,000 miles off the Irish coast on March 7. Where she had been since then, what perils she had encountered, were secrets locked in the breasts of her skipper and crew.

Arriving aboard the Dutch liner Leerdam last Wednesday, Capt. A. Knop of the Leerdam said that four ships in a 38-ship convoy had been torpedoed. He included the Empire Attendant as among the stricken craft.

And providing for completion of the essential links in the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence deep waterway when the governments of the United States and Canada agree that circumstances require it."

WASHINGTON, March 21.—A record-breaking $4,073,810,074 army-navy supply bill was reported to the house today by its appropriations committee carrying funds to put 2,000,000 men on a combat basis and to create production facilities for a potential army of 4,000,000 men.

Simultaneously, the committee made public its report on the huge measure together with testimony taken from high staff officers, disclosing that the army has completed plans for an expansion far beyond anything previously contemplated—the plans to go into effect on a moment's notice should the world situation make it necessary.

The possibility that the draft act may have to be expanded to provide additional troops also was raised.

If the full program would be carried through, the draft act must be changed to authorize induction of more men," said Rep. Snyder (D) Pa., chairman of the army (Continued On Page Two)

Berlin Reports Heavy Attacks On Plymouth

(International News Service)

BERLIN, March 21.—Favored by excellent visibility, powerful forces of German bombers last night dealt a terrific blow to the southwestern English seaport of Plymouth, Britain's second largest naval base, the German high command announced today.

High conflagrations started by incendiary and high explosive bombs developed into a veritable "lake of flames," the announcement said, adding one large naval arsenal was "completely gutted."

In addition, it was stated, German bombs of all calibres were rained on Plymouth, causing huge conflagrations and ear-shattering explosions.

A communique stated the raid was concentrated on the harbor and other "war-important" objectives at Plymouth, where one large ship was reported on fire and drifting in the harbor.

In the attack on London, the communique said, German bombers were led to new targets by the light of fires still blazing after the previous night's record-breaking assault on the British capital.

An earlier announcement said long range bombers on Wednesday, (Continued On Page Two)

More Evidence Of Sabotage In Wreck Shown

Probe Of Baden Crash Is Continued At Pittsburgh Today

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, March 21.—A recital of details pointing to sabotage as solely responsible for the wreck of the Buckeye Limited continued to unfold today with testimony that "somebody must have tampered with the rails."

In the wake of testimony that two mysterious figures were seen both before and after the Pennsylvania flyer plunged into the Ohio river at Baden Sunday night, Earl Pearce, Rochester, Pa., assistant trainmaster at the Conway yards, told the ICC board:

"Inasmuch as there were no splice bars or bolts on the rail and no spikes there I think somebody must have tampered with it."

Five persons were killed and 114 injured when the Buckeye left the rails just 10 minutes after the Manhattan Limited, with 44 Russian engineers aboard, had passed over the same spot.

C. L. Hicks, Latrobe, engineer on the second engine of a freight train that was flagged down after the wreck, recalled how someone told him a "dead lady" was on No. 1 track.

"I threw my light on her face. Her eyes were open and she said: 'For God's sake, someone help me. I told her there was no means of assistance there.' Hicks returned to help carry other victims from the wreck he said.

Other witnesses this morning included J. A. Kelso, block operator at East Conway, and B. L. McKenna, Freedom, assistant yardmaster at Conway.

Former American Destroyer Boarded By British King

(International News Service)

LONDON, March 21.—King George VI visited the Devonport dockyard at Plymouth yesterday only a few hours before Nazi raiders blitzed the southwestern coastal port last night, British authorities revealed today.

For the first time the monarch boarded one of the former American destroyers recently acquired by Britain. He inspected the ships company, composed entirely of Canadians, and displayed particular interest in the destroyer's equipment and armament.

It was learned the king left Plymouth last night only a short time before the raid began.

BELGRADE, March 21.—Three Yugoslavian cabinet ministers suddenly resigned today, creating a new hitch in plans to align Yugoslavia with the Axis powers.

The cabinet members quit their posts after the regency council and cabinet in a three and a half hour meeting last night was understood to have voted final agreement to a pact associating Yugoslavia with the Axis-Japanese alliance in a non-military capacity.

As a result of this development, the report adopted at last night's meeting was reported to have been shelved.

Informed quarters said the regency council and cabinet would meet again in secret session to "cope with the new situation."

The ministers who resigned were: Minister of Justice Constantino-vic, a member of the Radical party; Minister of Agriculture Todorovic, a leader of the Peasant party; Minister of Social Relations Budisavac, an independent Democrat.

It was understood these three men constituted the backbone of opposition of the contemplated accord which would make Yugoslavia a (Continued On Page Two)

C.I.O. Strike Hampers Defense Work

Allis Chalmers Strike Critical

In Progress At Milwaukee For Two Months—Holds Up Powder Plant

COMPLETION OF DESTROYERS HIT

By JACK VINCENT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 21.—The two-month-old CIO strike at the Allis Chalmers company in Milwaukee is seriously delaying completion of U. S. navy destroyers and preventing the army from starting operation of its new smokeless powder plant at Radford, Va., a checkup disclosed today.

Navy officials refused to confirm or deny reports that the strike had delayed outfitting of some new destroyers by three months. However, it was learned that the navy is keeping a close check on the delay caused by national defense strikes. This report later may be made available to Congress.

Hold Up Operation
The O. M. P. meanwhile, was advised by the army that the Milwaukee strike, which has thrown 3,000 men out of work, was preventing full operation of the Radford powder plant. Only one small unit has been in operation.

The plant was dedicated only last week. Built to meet the critical shortage of powder, the plant has a capacity of turning out 300,000 pounds of smokeless powder a day. However, it cannot be put into operation until special turbine-generators ordered from Allis Chalmers are delivered.

Defense officials have been asked by the army to find generators in some other market but none can be located.

LONDON REPORTS NAZI BATTLESHIPS ROAM ATLANTIC

with the British battle cruiser Renown off Narvik, Norway, on April 11. Obviously, this damage has now been repaired.

German announcements state that both the Scharnhorst and the Gneisenau participated in the sea battle last June in which the British aircraft carrier Glorious was sunk.

On frequent occasions, both of these heavily armored ships have been reported at various points many thousands of miles from their home base. One of the other has been reported in action off South America and in the Indian Ocean.

Both German ships were laid down in 1936. With 12-inch armor amidships and 3 to four inch armor at the stern, they carry nine 11-inch guns, twelve 5.9-inch guns and 30 anti-aircraft rifles varying calibre.

In addition, each carries four airplanes, sent off by means of catapults. Neither had torpedo tubes at the time of construction.

James' fighting ships lists their speed at 27 knots, but according to military experts this pace was exceeded considerably during trials and they are probably as fast as any vessel in the British navy.

Efforts to obtain information from the admiralty as to whether either vessel has been actually in action against British shipping were unavailing. It was assumed, however, that British warships or merchantmen had been in sufficiently close contact with them to permit today's definite identification.

member of the Berlin-Rome-Tokyo alliance, but exclude her from the military obligations accepted by other members of the Axis bloc.

Meanwhile, it was reported reliably that mobilization of the Yugoslav army would be continued to keep at least 100,000 men under arms during the spring sowing.

Military leaves will be granted under a system of rotation to keep the nation's defenses at a high peak.

Simultaneously authorities said that Yugoslavia now is conducting negotiations with Italy at Belgrade regarding proposed exploitation by an Italian colony of the waters of Lake Scutari to irrigate arid regions of both Albania and Montenegro.

Expected Yugoslavians Would Sign
Until the cabinet ministers resigned today, it had been expected Yugoslavians would sign up with the Axis powers in Vienna on Sunday. Today's developments, however, may result in further delay.

As decided upon last night, the projected pact stipulated that Yugoslavia would be excluded from all military obligations under the Axis-Japanese alliance.

"During the protracted Berlin-Belgrade negotiations, a high Yugoslav official remarked that Yugoslavia was determined not to be placed in the 'embarrassing position' of having to fight the United States if that nation entered the war against Germany."

Chief points of the German-Yugoslav agreement which already has been approved by Berlin, were reported to be:

1-Yugoslavia will join the Axis-Japanese pact within eight days.

2-Yugoslavia will remain free from military obligations such as those accepted by Rumania, Bulgaria and Hungary when they joined the alliance.

3-Germany and Italy will respect Yugoslavia's right to refuse to permit foreign troops to enter or pass through Yugoslav territory and will guarantee the integrity of Yugoslav territory and frontiers.

4-Upon termination of the war, members of the alliance will try to obtain for Yugoslavia a free outlet to the sea.

5-Yugoslavia will allow Axis powers to transport war material in northern and southern directions through her territory and will undertake to suppress anti-Axis influences within her borders and to bring her economic activities into line with Axis needs.

so heavy as the previous night's raid against London, which equalled or surpassed anything Britain has yet seen.

Despite the fact that virtually the entire population of the coastal town went underground as soon as the warning sirens screamed it was feared heavy casualties had been caused.

Waves of Nazi raiders flew over the city, dropping first fire bombs and then tons of high explosives that hit many private houses and other buildings.

Thousands of incendiaries were dropped by the first waves of attackers and thereafter they flew overhead at two and three minute intervals, unloading high explosives which damaged a motion picture theatre, a store, three churches and commercial establishments.

Throughout the assault anti-aircraft batteries sent up a terrific barrage heavier than anything the town ever had heard before.

In the attack on London the raiders flew in over the Thames Estuary and scattered incendiaries over one London area. A second district also was hit.

appropriations subcommittee "any question of national guard troops being kept in service for more than one year, however, is out."

So sweeping was the character of the bill that it appeared to extend even to the lend-lease program. The published testimony revealed that William S. Knudsen, O.P.M. director, believes big bombers may be rushed to Britain to aid in air attacks on Germany, the bill significantly carried funds for purchase of 3,600 bombers, one-third of them in long-range, four-engine category.

The army program was pictured as follows:

1. Army will reach 1,400,000 by June 30; funds are carried to provide critical equipment for 2,000,000 men, and $548,925,000 is specifically provided to create productive facilities for a second 2,000,000 men.

2. Army air strength increased to 21,600 planes, by providing money to complete present 18,000 plan program and adding 3,600 bombers.

Last night was this city's turn. The German raiders apparently aimed for the Devonport dockyard which King George inspected during his tour. Success or failure of the attack upon this vital war plant cannot be discussed under the censorship. But even a brief tour of the streets was sufficient to show that the city itself took a terrific pounding.

Three churches were blasted to varying degrees by incendiary and high explosive bombs. Two hospitals were damaged. Two public air raid shelters, jammed with Devonshire people seeking safety, were hit directly.

From evidence to be seen around the city it is apparent that the spring "housecleaning season" is in full swing at many homes.

Today's weather, coming with the first complete day of spring, stirs enthusiasm of the trout fishermen. The trout season will open on April 15, with the large amount of stream stocking that has been done, fishing should be good.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph.D.

TEACHERS CAN AID PARENTS

I wish teachers and Sunday school teachers would make helpful suggestions to children about their home life. If youngsters would learn to help their parents they would have a much happier life. I also wish teachers of adolescents would guide youth into understanding their parents. They might explain that parents sometimes seem unduly strict only because they feel a deep responsibility for their children's moral and physical health. Teachers might also help these boys and girls to see that they have an opportunity to share more responsibilities in the home, and that in doing so they will gain abundant permanent satisfactions.

School teachers from the kindergarten upward to the twelfth grade should be alert to the thousands of opportunities to cultivate wholesome attitudes in children toward their parents. Many a reading or composition lesson, for example, might be built about the child's learning in the home to wait upon himself, to care for his things, to help entertain his baby brother or sister. There is no better way to motivate reading at school than through encouraging the child there to read aloud to a younger child at home. I can think of no better means to help a poor reader of the fourth or fifth grade, since to the little child he naturally would read easy material, the very kind he needs to practice on.

Problems Of The Parent
In arithmetic and social sciences in the upper grades and high school, through family budgets and countless problems of family relationships, a thoughtful teacher can be very effective at leading youth to sense many of the problems which daily face their parents.

As one high school teacher said to her class, "Why should you expect your mother to mend, press and wash your clothes? Are you a cripple? Certainly you don't want to grow up to be a human parasite."

Letters from teachers, children, parents, or any other reader are always welcome, sent to me at 235 E. 45th St., New York City. Please enclose a self-addressed envelope in case a personal reply is desired. None marked confidential will be printed. In like manner you may receive a selected list of books on the adolescent and how to understand him.

Solving Parent Problems
Q. Would you deprive a child of his own toy as a means of punishment?

A. No, unless he was injuring the toy, himself, or annoying others with it.

The World and the Mud Puddles

A NEW CALENDAR.

Disgusted as only a precise engineer can be with senseless irregularities, William E. Edwards, radio designer for a Burbank, California, aircraft factory, has devised a perpetual calendar to eliminate the vagaries of the present one.

Edwards who is a graduate of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, started working on the idea years ago, toyed with the problem through his under-graduate years and on a trip around the world. Later he did slide-rule calculations on it while he worked as engineer for a national broadcasting station. This year he registered the "Edwards Perpetual Calendar" so he could invite international discussion and possibly pave the way for a changed system in dating.

Under today's calendar the number of days in each month varies, producing irregular quarters. The year 1941 has one hundred eighty-one days in the first half year and one hundred eighty-four in the last. Holidays fall on different days each year, often disrupting business and plans for outings. Since the year has an odd number of days (365) but only fifty-two weeks (364) days a day must be "borrowed" from the week of a preceding or following year, forcing

I wonder just what sort of day
The equinox will bring.

I wonder will new snowdrifts fall
And every bird be mute.
Or will (best warriors of all)
The buds begin to shoot?

The wise, who scan God's gracious arch
Where stars and planets spin,
Have calendared this day in March
For spring time to begin.

And there should show at early dawn
The snowdrift in the glade
And crows should dot the lawn.
But blunders oft are made.

And Spring is such a fickle miss,
Old Winter's way so slow,
The publication day for this
May bring a foot of snow.

Hopkins Is Still Closest To President
Continues As Resident Of White House
Became Unpopular With Public At Start

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Some of the congressmen who complain of President Roosevelt's alleged proclivity for sending unofficial, irresponsible emissaries abroad are reminding their co-complainants that the White House has, right here at home, a purely personal adviser with probably more influence there than anybody else in the United States.

They mean Harry Hopkins.
Harry actually lives under the executive mansion's roof, eats at its table, virtually is a member of the presidential family. Persons who want F. D. R.'s endorsement of plans and policies they're interested in promoting, know from experience that they can get it in no other way quite so certainly as by eliciting the aid of Harry the Hop.

Individuals and organizations whom and which he helps naturally swear by him. There are others, however, that he's turned down just as naturally. The worst not by but at him. Also there are politicians, some of them of considerable consequence, who resent the fact that a 100 per cent official outsider has a lot more pull at 1600 Pennsylvania avenue than they have themselves.

Illustratively, if a senator or representative, for instance, has in his bailiwick an important constituent or company or association with a proposition it seeks to have favorably presented to the nation's chief magistrate, it angers him to have Harry initially consulted over his head. It raises hackles with his prestige at home.

Hopkins' Bad Start

With the public generally Harry got off to a bad start as head of relief. It practically was a huge welfare worker's job (Harry'd been a professional welfare worker) and a welfare administrator never is popular. Undeserving would-be recipients, who are turned down of course are frightfully sore. And those who are relieved usually are sore, too, on the ground that they didn't get enough.

As secretary of commerce he wasn't a howling success, not having had a bit of training for that sort of a position. Besides, he was a sick man.

So when he resigned, on account of the state of his health, a lot of the folk he'd had contacts with, both politicians and businessmen, assumed that he was out of the picture permanently, and were mightily glad of it.

Instead, as the president's most trusted friend, he immediately became more powerful than ever, and absolutely free of having to answer to the disgruntled bunch, too. Then

Hatch Act And Bad Debts

WASHINGTON, March 21

In the most recent financial report of the Democratic national committee, filed with the clerk of the House of Representatives, there is considerable food for thought. It is difficult to see how anyone can read the details of those committee accounts, Republican as well as Democratic, without concluding that the method of financing and the manner of spending by the agency which conduct our campaigns are radically wrong and that something ought to be done about it.

IT is not only that the sums contributed, collected and expended are huge beyond all reason, but that following an election these committees invariably wind up with large deficits and heavy debts, which it often takes them years to pay. And there is a chance they may not be paid at all. For example, take the present list of Democratic debts. The committee owes as follows: New York Telephone company, $36,052.84; Postal Telegraph company, $17,443.16; Western Union, $13,548; Railroad Express Agency, $20,774.87; United Publishers, $11,043; radio broadcasts (W. H. Rankin company), $54,535; radio broadcasts (W. M. Fisher), $12,635; buttons (Bastion Bros.), $14,306; buttons (Green Duck company), $13,757.

THE significant items are those owing the public-utility corporations—telephone and telegraph companies, railway express and radio—over all of which the government wields power and which are the continual targets of the politicians. Obviously, these corporations are not in position, first, to refuse credit to political committees, second, to limit credit; third, to sue—even press—for payment; no matter how long the account may run. In other words, the politicians regularly blackmail these utility concerns into extending credit, which almost amounts to a gift of many thousands of dollars, to committees which are notoriously bad risks and which would not extend credit at all except under duress. The utilities are simply afraid to refuse.

IT is not necessary to sympathize with these corporations to feel that there is something depraved about this kind of business, and that it is a degraded way in which to elect anyone to the presidency, or for that matter to any public office. Here is a political committee which was so far behind in its rent that recently there was a threat to hold its furniture before it was permitted to use its offices, now established in elaborate headquarters and far more costly than the headquarters of any other party. For his personal suite, Mr. Flynn, the new chairman, is paying twice as much money for half the space occupied by the old chairman, Mr. Farley. Still, the committee owes large sums to the corporations which the party it represents regularly baits and the time when these will be paid is vague and distant.

PERHAPS, the Jackson Day dinner will make the committee solvent again, but that isn't sure. And, anyway, the utilities are the last to be paid, because they are helpless to press for payment. The whole business is unhealthy, and the Hatch act, from which so much was expected, turned out to be an almost complete washout. There was a loophole in it big enough to let anything through—and nearly everything got through. The limitation of $3,000,000 became a joke when it was discovered that there was no limit to the number of separate agencies that could collect money and nothing to prevent them from spending it in ways suggested by the national committee.

THE net result, as developed since the election by a Senate committee, was that this campaign exceeded all others in the money collected and expended. One estimate placed the expenditures at about 40 million. Actually, there was no limitation at all. The Hatch act failed in its purposes. It was evaded and disregarded in 1940 just as all previous corrupt practices acts had been in the past. In this present Congress an effort is to be made to tighten and strengthen the act, to plug up the loopholes and make it really effective.

SO far as known, there never has been a really effective law of this kind enacted in either state or nation, but there ought to be brains enough in Congress to devise one, now that the rule have been made so glaringly apparent. At any rate it is to be hoped that in the new bill this business of incurring heavy indebtedness to the utilities will not be overlooked. If, as is reported, one provision of the bill will prohibit contributions, direct or indirect, by utility or corporation or by the officers or directors only to corporations, then certainly there should be another provision from forcing such corporations to extend, through fear, a reluctant credit. It is ridiculously inconsistent to forbid the corporation to make a gift to the committee and then permit the committee to run up a huge debt to the corporation which, in effect, is a gift.

JOANNA MAE RAISLEY WEDS CHARLES E. EDIE

Friends here of Joanna Mae Raisley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Merle Raisley of College Hill, Beaver Falls, will be interested in hearing of her marriage to Charles Ernest Edie, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Edie of Rochester.

The wedding ceremony was performed in the Raisley home Wednesday evening, March 19, at 7:30 o'clock, with Dr. Alden J. Green, pastor of the College Hill Methodist church, officiating.

Mrs. Kenneth Whittingham, sister of the groom, played the "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin as the bride entered the living room on the arm of her father.

The bride was attired in a street length frock of powder blue, with navy accessories, and her bridal corsage was of gardenias.

Mrs. Robert Hemphill of Beaver Falls, and Kenneth Whittingham, brother-in-law of the groom, served as best man.

Immediately following the wedding ceremony a dinner was served in the Edie home in East Rochester. The bride couple left by motor for Florida, and upon their return will reside at the Raisley home.

The bride graduated from the Beaver Falls high school, Geneva college, and has been a teacher in the East Rochester schools. Mr. Edie is associated with the Phoenix Glass Company in Monaca.

MRS. T. I. ELLIOTT RECEIVES ART CLUB

In the home of Mrs. T. I. Elliott on Winter avenue, Thursday afternoon, Art club members assembled for their monthly session, at which time, Mrs. S. E. Irvine was heard as guest speaker.

Mrs. Fred Hainforth, chairman of the program, introduced Mrs. Irvine, who gave an especially interesting talk on "Arts Of New Mexico." She related the natural arts of the country, and having resided in that locality for some time, had first hand information which was most enlightening to her audience. She told of the early history of the Indian and Mexican potters, and related their customs, habits and crafts. Adding further to the day's pleasures, was a collection of articles brought from New Mexico, who she had on display.

The next meeting on April 17, will be held in the home of Mrs. F. M. Alexander of 323 Park avenue, when an election of officers will take place.

Sawalla Club

The regular meeting of the Sawalla club, which was scheduled for last evening, will be held, Thursday evening, March 27, in the home of Mrs. Harry Shaffer, Logan street.

MRS. SARA HOGUE IS 93 YEARS TODAY

The first day of spring, March 21, holds a double significance for Mrs. Sara Hogue, who is quietly observing her 93rd birthday anniversary, at the home of her niece, Mrs. R. R. Blair of Princeton, where she resides.

Mrs. Hogue is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wolford who made their home in Slippery Rock, recognized as an early pioneer family of Butler County. In her early days, Mrs. Hogue taught school in Butler County, and later, she became the bride of Samuel Hogue, who passed away about eight years ago. They lived in Oklahoma shortly after their marriage, and about twelve years ago, returned to the East.

Mrs. Hogue is a devoted church worker and is a member of the Slippery Rock Presbyterian congregation. She is active today, and is a remarkable person, in spite of her advanced years. She reads without glasses, to keep up on the every day problems, and is ready to discuss any situation with her friends and kin folks.

While the day will be spent informally in a quiet manner at her residence, Mrs. Hogue has many friends in Lawrence and Butler Counties who will read with interest, of her 93rd anniversary. All join in extending her congratulations, on this notable occasion.

Senate Passes Big Naval Bill

Record Shattering $3,446,685,144 Appropriation Bill Is Passed

GOES TO HOUSE
FOR FEW CHANGES

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, March 21.—The senate Thursday passed the record shattering $3,446,685,144 naval appropriation bill after defeating by a tie vote an amendment which would have permitted the navy to purchase Argentine canned beef.

The vote on the amendment was 32 to 32 with Sen. Ellender (D-La.) in the chair, in the temporary absence of vice president Wallace, who was at lunch. Ellender voted for the amendment, and if Wallace had been present he also could have cast a vote to break the tie.

Back To House
The bill now goes back to the house for consideration of minor changes written into the bill by the senate.

The bill allocates $32,000,000 for work on six battle cruisers for which contracts have all ready been let with the New York shipbuilding company at Camden, N. J.

The cruisers, carrying batteries of 12 to 14 inch guns will average from 20,000 to 25,000 tons, and cost about $43,000,000 each. They are supposed to be more effective than similar ships being constructed by Japan, according to reports from naval officials.

Funds for the six cruisers are part of an allocation of $1,515,000,000 for new ship construction. Other appropriations include $278,000,000 for shore development, $434,550,000 for aircraft, and $438,160,000 for modernizing older naval vessels.

The bill also contains $5,000,000 for beginning construction of 27 section bases for "mosquito" boats, submarine chasers and patrol boats.

Maritime Board Member Is Named

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, March 21.—President Roosevelt on Thursday nominated Edward Macaulay of California to be a member of the maritime commission replacing Max O'Reil, who has resigned.

Macaulay's nomination was sent to the senate for confirmation for the unexpired term of six years ending on September, 1938.

The president also named Wayne Cox, Indiana, Charles West, Ohio, and Nelson Lee Smith, New Hampshire, to be members of the board of investigation and research which was set up under the transportation act of 1940. The president also nominated Claude N. Sapp to be reappointed U. S. attorney for the eastern district of South Carolina.

Would Legalize Playing Of Bingo

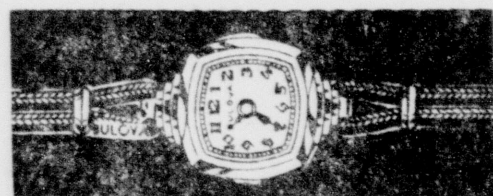

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, March 21.—Despite senate defeat of a similar proposal, Rep. Francis J. Falkenstein, Philadelphia, Democrat, Thursday asked the legislature to legalize bingo for charitable purposes.

Falkenstein introduced a bill in the house to permit bingo playing in churches, fire companies, and social and fraternal organizations every day except Sunday. Organizations desiring to hold bingo games would obtain an annual license from the department of revenue at a cost of from $150 to $600, depending upon the population of the community.

The Human Side Of The News

(By EDWIN C. HILL)

Copyright 1940 King Features Syndicate, Inc.

A current story has to do with a dumb rookie soldier having his medical examination. It was hard going for the doctor. The boy was a good-natured rascal with a genius for misunderstanding. Finally the exasperated doctor exclaimed:

"For the love of Pete! Don't you know the King's English?"

"Is he?" asked the boy with a wide smile of comprehension at last.

"It's Tommy this and Tommy that, but they're a thin red line of 'foes when the band begins to play.' Back in Kipling's day, it didn't matter so much if here and there among them was one who was no giant intellect. They packed them in their hollow square or advanced them in their mass battalions or drummed them up the hill or down the wire and the witless alike, impelled by a single voice of command,

But Kipling is gone and this is today, and here today the United States Army explains a new policy behind which lies the story of the adaptation of warfare to the machine age.

"Modern warfare," says this announcement, "requires self-reliance in every grade. Individuals capable of independent thought and action, who are inspired by a distinct feeling that, as an individual, or as members of a unit, they are competent to cope with any condition, situation or adversary."

Those would be strange words to old Von Clausewitz, expounder of classical military strategy in which there is taken into account no single differential of soldierly initiative. But that is not all. The army will no longer require the salute to an officer by a private off-post, and the soldier in a mess hall no longer will be required to stop eating and sit at attention when an officer enters.

Individuality, intelligence, group co-operativeness and sportsmanship are the new goals of effectiveness and discipline in the model 1941 army of the U. S. A. And there are added to these "A sense of duty, pride and responsibility, loyalty, morale, respect, confidence initiative and team-work."

Most of us, in our undergraduate years, have heard football coaches talk that way. Football, like war, has moved along in our generation from the mass attack to the open game, and it is in the open game that initiative and individuality are at a premium. The truth is that the very nature of a machine war required preliminary skills and training; resourcefulness and initiative on the part of the rank-and-file undreamed of in the days of standard tactics and simpler fighting tools.

Consider the tank-driver thundering down a broken field with no cavalry to guide him. There's no "right by two to the front" in this business, no dependable condition reflex instilled by the old drill tactics. One quality of the machine age, or a machine war, is that it takes anything but a machine to run it.

This led in the hell-buggy must have not only a mastery of an intricate mechanism, but he must be capable of swift judgment, decision and action if anything goes wrong under conditions which probably would have made Napoleon's best soldier forget his own name.

For the last two years, our army high-command has been intent on making soldiers self-starters and self-finishers. They learned a lesson from the British in this, and also the French. In 1935, General Perser was thrown out of the British Army because of his loud and vehement insistence that not only equipment but army personnel must be thoroughly adapted to mechanization. And it was just about that time that the French punished their General Charles de Gaulle for the same reason, by shunting him off as an instructor in an obscure military college. It is now General de Gaulle who heads the world forces of the Free French in London.

There were brass hats in our army, too, but providentially to us has been given an object lesson, and it appears that we are giving heed to it. We were talking the other day about the huge trucks, rolling over our great transcontinental highways and mountain ranges. It is a reminder that we have a civilian army of boys who can ride thunder-bolts in the world ever had so many men trained in such skills and hazards, and in the necessary initiative and resourcefulness, which the army now invokes and instills.

We may remember, too, that we were far out in front in all this mechanization business, that the first caterpillar tread, which evolved into the British tank of the World War, was laid down in Stockton, California. That famous play of about twelve years ago, "Robots Limited," may have been all wrong. The idea was that our machine age would turn men into machines.

And here's a machine-age war in which the robot would be the last man to qualify. The army wants no automation at the wheel of a tank or of a plane, or behind a machine gun. And we may take heart in the fact that no nation in the world has any slight approximation of our multitudes of young men skilled in operating machines under trying conditions.

CENTURY-OLD HARP (International News Service)

EASTON, Pa.—The Northampton County Historical society of Easton recently acquired a portable harp, believed to be more than 100 years old. The harp, like many antique in unconstructed stages, is a half-made affair of walnut and is roughly 4 1/2 feet high. Originally it is 36 strings but only a few remain intact and give an unpleasant "plunk" when plucked. The pegs that hold the strings are made of hand-wrought iron.

Two Mystery Figures Seen Near Wreck At Baden

Witnesses Declare Rail Had Been Removed To Cause Pennsy Wreck

MORE WITNESSES WILL BE HEARD

PITTSBURGH, March 21.—Highlighted by testimony that two mysterious figures were seen near the spot where the Buckeye Limited plumed into the Ohio river Sunday night, and that the train was deliberately sabotaged, an I.C.C. probe into the wreck was to be continued today with 25 more witnesses on hand.

Five persons were killed and 114 others were injured in the accident, which occurred near Baden, Pa., just 18 minutes after the Pennsylvania Railroad's Manhattan Limited, racing through the night at 60-miles an hour with 44 Russian engineers aboard, had passed the spot.

Believe Rail Removed
Two witnesses testified last night that they fully believed a rail had been removed from the track causing the accident. Prior to that, two other witnesses—a fireman on the Manhattan, and a fireman on the wrecked Buckeye Limited—testified they had seen two men standing motionless in the swirling blizzard near the scene of the tragedy.

The Soviet engineers were bound for Washington from Vladivostok. They had docked at San Pedro, Cal., March 12th, and were placed in two overflow cars on the eastern run. Whether they were the intended target of the saboteurs was not known, but their train preceded the Buckeye by only 18 minutes.

Charge Rail Taken Out
G. S. Graham, of Baden, a signal maintainer, said he was called to the scene and "that as soon as I saw the rails, I said right then and there that a rail had been removed." He qualified his statement by adding that he had "seen a lot of wrecks but never anything like that."

Railroad officials charged after the wreck that a 30-foot section of the rail had been removed in such a fashion that connecting bond wires were not damaged to signal a break in the line. Spikes were pulled from the rail, officials said, and a clawbar and wrench were found near the scene.

Steve Lipsak, track foreman who has been the P.E.R. in the Baden locality since 1907, said a man had inspected the track the day before the accident. He also said that "as soon as I saw the rail, I say God's sake, this rail has been removed." Lipsak said it would take one husky man at least 30 minutes of hard work to remove the spikes from the 30-foot rail section, but that two men could have done it in 15 or 20 minutes.

(Copyright, 1941, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

THIRD OF FOURTH CAESARIAN OPERATION NEED NOT BE FATAL TO MOTHER.

In my thirty-odd years as a country doctor, I figure I must have delivered about 1600 babies, and not one of these required a Caesarian operation. Consequently, I cannot pose as an expert on the surgical delivery of children and when persons write me questions about Caesarian sections I must study up on a branch of medicine and surgery with which I wasn't very familiar as a practitioner. I find there are a great many baseless superstitions about this operation that are widely held.

A woman writes me from Chicago that she had two children, both by Caesarian section, and she was facing a third pregnancy. "I am told that the third Caesarian is fatal to the mother," she says. "It is strictly against my religion to do anything to get rid of the child. My husband and I don't know what to do."

I can reassure her that her third

Caesarian, if done by a good surgeon in a modern hospital, held no more risk to her life than did the first operation or the second.

The belief that the third Caesarian is always fatal may have started a few years ago when, in my opinion at least, far more Caesarians were done than were necessary. Some surgeons resorted to this operation in cases in which the child could have been delivered by natural means. The operation is always fairly dangerous and it is doubly dangerous when it isn't done by someone who is particularly expert at it. Consequently, a number of deaths did result.

A well-known obstetrician tells me he has performed three such operations in each of two women and that he wouldn't hesitate a moment to do the fourth on either of them should the need ever arise. He knows of one surgeon who has performed the operation five times on the same woman, and all five children survived.

More than once I have been asked why in my 1600 births, I have never encountered Caesarian. The reason is that I wasn't looking for an opportunity to have the operation. Also the nature of the people I attended had a lot to do with it.

They are strong, healthy country people of sturdy stock. They have for generations subsisted on wholesome food, and rickets haven't plagued them until women's pelvic bones have become deformed. These people get plenty of exercise. They work right up to the time the baby is born, their muscles are strong, and most of all, they look on childbirth with complete calm. It is as normal a thing as eating or drinking.

Wheeler Planning Anti-War Crusade

Senator Announces Crusade—
Says America Being Pushed Into War

(International News Service)
 WASHINGTON, March 21.—Senator Burton K. Wheeler, Montana Democrat, who led the fight against the all-out British aid program, today is planning to mobilize the nation in an anti-war crusade.

The senator announced his crusade following a nation-wide radio broadcast in which he charged that British propagandists and other interests "have nearly attained their objective—active American participation in a foreign war."

Wheeler will call upon those who opposed passage of the lend-lease bill to continue to fight "not against the bill, but against war and against every step which gives dictatorial powers to the president."

All-In-War For U. S.

In his radio speech the Montanan charged that "all out aid for England, Greece and China means all-in-war for the United States."

The senator said that his plans to carry the anti-war crusade to the people call for the organization of "flying squadrons" of make radio addresses, speak at mass meetings from one coast to the other.

The object of the crusade, he declared, is to try to show President Roosevelt that the majority of Americans are against entering the European conflict.

In his broadcast, over a nation-wide NBC network, Wheeler referred to President Roosevelt's Saturday night speech several times and at one point said that "to many of us, the president's recent speech carried dark foreboding for the future of the republic."

Declaring that those who favored the all-out program of aid to Britain had stated that the lend-lease bill did not authorize the president to use convoys and to send armed forces into combat areas, Wheeler pointed to a statement by Mr. Roosevelt that "dollars alone will not win this war."

"Does this mean," he asked, "that if supplies are not enough, troops will be dispatched? What is meant by the president's 'bridge of ships' across the ocean? Does this mean convoys? Convoys manned by American sailors who will shoot at and be shot at by German sea raiders?"

Defense Council
Is Being CreatedWill Not Be Super-Body
Governor James Answers
StatePROCLAMATION TO BE ISSUED SOONBy RAYMOND WILCOVE
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

HARRISBURG, March 21.—The Pennsylvania council of defense will not be a "super body" and its creation need bring no fears of any abrogation of civil rights in the carrying out of its duties. Gov. Arthur H. James today assured the state.

Despite the near-state of war in which the nation is now operating, "we do have rights and we shall try to retain them as long as we can," commented the governor.

Governor James discounted fears expressed in some quarters that the act under which the council is being created would give the governor, as council chairman, extraordinary powers, and pointed to a clause in the act which limited the council's activities to "all acts and things not inconsistent with law for the furtherance of defense activities."

He considered the council, explained Governor James, "as powerful only in its persuasive effects."

No Super-Mediation.

There is no intention of using the council as a sort of supermediation board, he continued, although he did not discount the fact that under the law the council could create committees to investigate labor disputes.

"The purpose of this act," said the governor, "is not to displace existing agencies, but rather to coordinate them to the tremendous job ahead of pushing forward the national defense program with a minimum of delay and confusion."

Governor James announced that he would summon the 11-member board for an "informal get-together" within a few days at which time a decision will be reached on how soon the board will swing into action.

The council can not legally function until the governor issues an executive proclamation declaring a "time of emergency or public need."

All indications are that this proclamation will be issued soon, after the council's informal meeting. Just before he signed the Achteman-Woodside bill authorizing the creation of the council, Governor James remarked that "it must be carried out quickly."

The proclamation itself is now being drawn up by the attorney general.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—War department officials today announced that there are no plans to extend the training of the National Guard and draftees beyond the one year emergency period, unless international conditions change for the worse.

New legislation would be required to hold the guard in federal service beyond September. It was pointed out. It was emphasized, however, that draftees are in the service and would be subject to call within ten years after completing their training.

The department said that there are 16,500 officers and 252,000 enlisted men of the guard now in federal service.

Flees Workhouse
Farm. Is Report(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, March 21.—Brice Hann, 54, acquitted last year of the murder of a state policeman in Fulton county, has escaped from the Allegheny county workhouse farm, Superintendent Lawrence Keenan revealed Thursday.
Hann in the workhouse since last October for carrying concealed weapons, ran or wandered away from his job tending chickens on the farm half a mile from the workhouse late Wednesday. Keenan said.
Workhouse guards county police and state motor police searched the area throughout the night without success. Hann was transferred to outside work last Friday because it was feared he was becoming mentally ill from confinement. The prisoner was found not guilty of killing State Motor Policeman Fredrick Sutton in January, 1940, when Sutton tried to serve a warrant on him for allegedly passing a worthless check.

Tells How British Bombers Are Trained

By ANTHONY BILLINGHAM
International News Service Staff

R. A. F. AIRPORT SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, March 21.—When this air base was first organized, typical British thoroughness demanded that the students be given nothing but the best facilities for their instruction.

This policy created a tremendous drain upon Britain's regular fleet of operating aircraft. A large number of Hudsons were required to use the use of students and after the students had banged the ships about the airport for a while the planes were no longer in a fit condition for actual operational flying.

But, give them time and the British will find an answer to any problem. Working slowly, they found their way around this one by using another type of trainer.

Bombing Tower

The problem pertaining to the bombing students was then considered. This has been quite effectively solved by the erection of a bombing tower. The floor of this tall building is really a motion picture screen. In the attic is the projector and about half-way up is a pilot's seat complete with controls and bomb sights. Beside this is a couch-like affair, similar to that upon which a bomber reclines in an airplane. He, too, has real bomb sights and releases.

In practicing the bomb drill, a picture of a real countryside is thrown upon the floor below and as this moves slowly under him the pilot's controls guide him over to the target. A tiny light on the picture below indicates where each bomb has fallen.

But it is only now that talent and skill, amounting to genius, enter the picture of the training of British pilots. The base C. O. steered me to a shabby, weather-beaten shack, such as armies throw up as semi-permanent barracks buildings. And inside this most unremarkable structure I found a trainer that makes the "link" look like a baby carriage when compared to a flying fortress.

The place was littered with wires and instruments but most of the space was taken up by the wingless bodies of two Hudson bombers.

Everything But Fly

As the C. O. observed, these trainers do everything but fly. They have the full instrument equipment of a Hudson bomber, and every one of them works with a realism that is as startling as it is baffling. Not even the smallest thing is overlooked. The tiny lights indicating the positions of the wheels flash off and on. Oil pressure, flying speed, altitude and many other instruments of a real bomber function together singly, as they are brought into play.

The wheel tugs in air currents and loosens up in your hands when leveling off. And then there is the sound. When the plane dives, the wind screams. When it climbs, the powerful motors roar in your ears. This sound track was made in a real plane and should be good. This entire arrangement is operated by a series of communicating bellows, which in turn are propelled by a small bellows motor operating from a compressed air tank. Some of the electrical instruments, naturally, are supplied with this power.

In practice, the pilots and crew board the plane, just as they would a real Hudson. The instruments are checked, the plane takes off, the sound track bringing in the sound of the motors. The pilot is flying a charted course by instruments. In an adjoining room, the instructor gives them all the trouble that comes to his mind and his instruments indicate whether or not the crew reacts properly to each new problem. He can bring storms, break oil lines, cause them to dive, roll or climb at will.

Electric Service To Be Interrupted

Two Sections Of City To Be Affected By Change In Voltage Of Lines

First step in the Pennsylvania Power company's 1941 program to increase the voltage from 2,300 to 4,000 volts will be taken Saturday and continued Sunday in two sections of the city. However, the interruption of service on both days will only be between 6 and 7:30 a. m. Here's the schedule:

Service in the West Washington street section, West Side, will be interrupted between 6 and 7:30 a. m. Saturday.

Service in the Sampson street section will be similarly affected between the same hour Sunday.

"Should any one notice their electric clock has slowed or stopped all they need to do is call 1830, Pennsylvania Power company, and they will be given the correct time," a company attaché stated today.

The line workers and engineers have been preparing carefully to do this work in the quickest yet safest time with the least inconvenience to the electric power consuming public.

CAPT. E. W. YOUNG ON RESERVE LIST

GROVE CITY, March 21.—In military service 13 years, and on active duty for the past four months, Captain E. M. Young of this city has been rejected for physical disabilities and placed on the reserve list. The order relieving him of active duty at Indiantown Gap Reservation was made effective March 17th, after which he failed to pass a special examination at First Army headquarters in Baltimore. He is now at his home here.

Captain Young recently completed a special course in plans and training at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, and up in his return was ordered to Indiantown Gap.

Six other officers, now on duty at Indiantown, have successfully passed final medical examinations.

PUSH FOR ACTION ON SPECIAL LAWS

Two Democratic Measures On Milk And Labor To Be Reported To Legislature

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

HARRISBURG, March 21.—The new Democratic milk and labor laws, two of the major pieces of legislation to be considered by the 1941 session, will be reported out of committee for enactment next week, house majority leader Leo A. Acherman disclosed today.

The milk bill practically revises the present milk law, while the labor measure repeals practically all of the 1939 Republican amendments to the state's labor relations act. They are part of the Democratic legislative program.

Two other important measures, the Democratic anti-injunction act and a resolution calling for a legislative probe of state hospitals, are slated to be passed by the house and forwarded to the senate when the legislature reconvenes for its 11th week of deliberations Acherman stated.

Also slated to be passed by the house and sent to the senate is a bill legalizing Sunday bowling and another tipping off of the state department the employees retirement board and transferring it to the treasury department.

The senate was expected to take final action next week on the Reburn bill giving the milk control commission supervision over milk delivered on commission and appropriating $57,000 for the enlargement and improvement of the Indian town Gap military reservation.

RESUME PARLEY ON STEEL WAGE

Negotiations Between Murray
And Perry Are Resumed
At Pittsburgh

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, March 21.—Philip Murray and his steel workers organizing committee aides today continued their contract negotiations with J. L. Perry, president of Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation, largest U. S. Steel subsidiary.

Yesterday's meeting came to a close with neither side willing to express comment. It was indicated, however, that several more conferences would be held.

Murray previously handed the steel executive a nine-point program which he asked to be the basis of negotiations for the new contract, which will affect workers in almost all other U. S. Steel plants as well since the Carnegie-Illinois contract is usually used as a basis for other contracts.

The corporation rejected a 10-cent per hour raise for the workers and countered with a 2½-cent proposal which would be limited in accordance with steel operations.

Murray and members of his committee have been voted authority to take "whatever action is necessary" to secure a contract.

Babson Encourages U. S. Investments; Discusses Markets

By ROGER W. BABSON
Copyright—1947—Publishers Financial Bureau, Inc.

BABSON PARK, Fla., March 21—In spite of the highest rate of industrial production this country has ever known, the stock market shows but little signs of life. Furthermore, while prices have been falling on the New York Stock Exchange since last November, stocks in London have gone up and in Berlin have held a very high level. Will U. S. and Canadian stocks remain at their prevailing low prices, slide off further, or there a rise ahead? These are questions in which readers are interested. Let us look at the record.

Berlin—London—New York

Following the start of World War II in September, 1939, German stock prices reacted only a trifle the next month and ever since then have been climbing to new highs. Of course, the Berlin market is controlled. It is not the type of free market which exists in New York, Toronto or even in London, despite the pegging of the British pound. From the commencement of hostilities, British stocks also moved steadily upward until March, 1940, when they took a nose-dive, reaching their low in the early summer of 1940. Since then, London prices have risen more than New York prices.

At the beginning of the war, the indices of New York and Berlin stock prices were the same, namely, 93. New York prices rose above those of Berlin for a month, then reacted and continued for six months a sideways movement. In April, 1940, a month after the decline started in London, American stock prices fell sharply, showing a drop from a high of 95½ in October, 1939, to a low of 73½ in June, 1940. In the same period of time, London prices dropped from 72 to 64-3-4, thus showing nowhere near the collapse experienced in the American market. New York prices rose from a low of 73½ in June, 1940, to a high of 82 in November, 1940. London prices started up a month later. However, in November, New York prices again declined until now they stand at 76 compared with 93 when the war started.

U. S. Investors Should Cheer-Up

While New York prices have been declining, London prices have held up much better. Since the war started, there has been a net loss in London prices of less than 5 per cent whereas the net loss in New York prices has been more than 15 per cent. Over the same period, the rise in Berlin prices has shown an extraordinary gain of over 35 per cent. This rise in German securities, while admittedly in a controlled market, should encourage American investors. Certainly, if controls are put into effect here to eliminate the dangers of inflation, higher taxes, or even more stringent SEC regulations, the Berlin market demonstrates that controls need not necessarily depress the prices of stocks.

Some of my readers are pleading that U. S. and Canadian stocks are already selling at bankrupt quotations; that much further drop will wipe out remaining equities. These readers are also pleading for a return to the old fairly-free form of margin buying and short selling. They want to buy stocks, but hate to put up the cash; that is they want to speculate. This is a dangerous and vicious practice. I never bought a share of stock on margin in my life. One of the best things the SEC has accomplished has been the stiffening of margin requirements and the practical elimination of stock market manipulation.

Are Equities Being Lost?

If any equities are in danger of being wiped out, they are individual equities and not the equities of corporations. Too many businessmen are worrying too about stock prices, failing to study the real values which these stocks represent. For example, General Electric remains a great and efficient organization and has the same amount of property and equipment whether its shares are selling for 41 or for 26. No form of equity is wiped out of a corporation by a slump in the price of its shares. However, individual equities most certainly can be wiped out when one trades on margin, whether buying or selling shares.

I have no way of knowing, but undoubtedly shareholders in Berlin are subject to severe restrictions or profits taxes which prevent them from selling securities today at 128 for which they paid 93 at the beginning of World War II. Hitler presumably is interested in having sympathetic Nazi investors maintain or increase their original equities in stocks. Their profits come in the form of increased dividends and thus, to a large extent, their income keeps pace with mounting prices and rising costs of living. Also the rising market in Berlin must please investors and free their attention for more important matters.

What's Ahead?

Some day there will be a terrible decline in German securities. When that time comes German investors will probably be prevented from selling their stocks on the market to be sold at declining prices just as they are now prevented from taking profits. Dividends may hold up longer than prices in Berlin, New York, Toronto or London. In the seesaws of inflation, the average investor may be better off in the end, however, to ride the market up and to ride the market down without selling. If, without proper guidance, he sells, his money may not be worth much anyway. Also, the cash will burn a hole in his pocket and he will too quickly buy in again as most investors were doing in the decline in our market from 1929 to 1932.

However, as I look today at our New York stock quotations, I cannot help but believe that the investor who now has a little cash, faith and courage, may well make some selected purchases. Some day there will be encouraging news from abroad with respect to the progress of World War II. Good news to the United States and Canada will be bad news to Germany. Berlin stock prices will fall and ours will rise. Wise indeed is today's investor who sees that the inevitable is bound to happen and that those who have patience and courage can greatly profit when it comes.

Says Japanese People Worried

Churchman Relates Evidences Of Anxiety Over
Possible War With
U. S. Seen

WAR STRAIN IS MUCH IN EVIDENCE

By DAN FRISHMAN
International News Service Staff

SAN FRANCISCO, March 21.—The Japanese people as a whole evidence "great anxiety" over possibility of conflict with the United States, but have the feeling that they are helpless to curb the march of events, according to Bishop James Chamberlain Baker.

The Methodist church leader, now Bishop of California, served his church in Japan, Korea and Manchuria during the original Manchurian "incident." Early this year he revisited Nippon.

"Everywhere there is evidence of war strain in Japan," he reported. "There is all manner of economics. Water is scarce. Electricity is shut off part of the day. There are no soap or towels in the first-class compartments on the trains. The taxicabs are scarce where before they were plentiful, and many of them have charcoal conveyers on the rear of the car, providing a substitute for gasoline. Bread is of a poor quality and other staple foods are scarce."

"China Incident" Now a War
"Very seldom now does one hear of the 'China incident.' Reference is now made to the war with China. The Japan I saw in January was in the process of setting up what is called the new national structure. This phrase appears everywhere. It is described as the 'principle of unity' or Totalitarianism. 'All life is being reshaped and directed to make this new structure. There is a Supreme Cultural Council which has to do with education, physical training, sports, press and publications, social works and art, and religion. The pressure is upon every aspect of cultural life."

"There has been a tremendous fight against this regimentation in some of the universities, especially at the Imperial University in Tokyo. Hundreds of university professors have been arrested. Frequently our friends said they felt muzzled."

"There is also the Supreme Economic Council which is shaping the industrial and economic life of the country. Unification of Parties
"Parliament is in the process of giving way to a regimented political order. There is a unification of parties and an agreement that there shall be no debate. Representative government which had made some progress in Japan in these latter years is rapidly disappearing and the Nazi pattern is taking its place."

"The Japan I saw in January was obsessed with the 'new order in Asia' or the 'co-prosperity sphere.' The program in brief is Japanese economic control and military mastery in Asia. Asia for these Asiatics is another way of putting it. 'Undergirding this new order is a sense of mission that is almost Messianic."

"The leaders of government have much resentment toward the United States because they feel the United States is hindering the fulfillment of the manifest destiny of Japan. They constantly complain of the lack of understanding of their purposes by other nations."

Under Sway of Axis
"The Japan I saw in January is under the sway of the Axis Alliance. Not only are the Japanese leaders convinced that Germany will win the European War, they have also convinced themselves that the interests of Japan and Germany are inextricably united. The foreign minister, Mr. Matsukata, says that if there had been no alliance the two nations must necessarily have moved together because of identity of interests."

"The Alliance, Japan feels, is a protection against Russia, and a German victory would give her possession of Asia for her development and exploitation."

"The Germans are everywhere in evidence as advisors. Mr. Schultz, of the German Youth Movement, has been in Japan for months organizing the youth, and German advisors are to be found in many other fields."

Public Against Axis

"Many Japanese are very much disturbed by the Axis Alliance and believe that Japanese interests are more truly intertwined with American interests than with Germany's. It is my judgment that a public vote, if such were possible, would not favor the Axis."

"The Japan I saw in January was actually aware of the tension existing between Japan and the United States. I found great anxiety in every group—government circles, among business men, among the people on the street. In spite of this anxiety there was a feeling that nothing could be done about it from the side of Japan. She was committed to her 'new order in Asia' and nothing could stop her even though going on meant plunging over the abyss into war. Only the United States can stop the impending tragedy in the judgment of the Japanese."

"In January I found very little hostility toward Americans. Again and again I was told that an overwhelming percentage of the people were friendly to the United States and ardently desired to resolve all the difficulties that exists between our two nations."

New Reform School Is Being Occupied

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, March 21.—Sixty boys from the Pennsylvania Industrial School at Huntingdon Thursday entered the new $3,500,000 industrial school at White Hill, formerly opening the state's newest youth rehabilitation center.

Major Henry C. Hill, superintendent of the institution, said that after today the boys would be transferred from Huntingdon in groups at regular intervals so that within one month 200 transfers will have been made. Major Hill said a 'pause' would follow the admittance of that number to permit certain adjustments.

The new institution was begun in February, 1938, and was virtually completed last October. The state hopes to fill the school to its 1,408 capacity in about one year.

Highway Bridge Repair Program Cost 7 Millions

HARRISBURG, March 21.—Since January, 1939, three special bridge programs with a total expenditure of $7,050,000 have been authorized by the State Highway Department.

Bridges improved, or to be improved this year, under these programs, are in addition to the new structures built by the Highway Department—sponsored by WPA Department—and also to those provided for in contracts for construction and reconstruction of highways.

The first special bridge program called for the expenditure of $2,050,000, the second $2,000,000, and the latest one for the fiscal year to begin June 1 amounts to $3,000,000.

If all the telephone lines in the United States were put end to end, they would reach to the moon and back more than 105 times.

Classify 187 As Draft Objectors

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, March 21.—Gov. Arthur H. James today announced that reports from 90 per cent of the local boards in the Pennsylvania selective service system show that 187 registrants have been classified as conscientious objectors—class 4-E.

The governor, in reporting these figures to national headquarters, was advised that camps were being planned to which these individuals may be assigned in lieu of actual military training. It was pointed out, however, that adequate equipment

Slightly Lower

Small Changes In Prices Are Reported During Morning However

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, March 21. — The stock market was slightly lower today as the utility preferred strength which featured yesterday's market was dissipated. Although these issues were still higher, in many cases the impetus was lost. Extreme gains were a point in the two Engineers Public Service preferreds.

Practically all other groups were lower or mixed.
Steels and motors were lower with a trifle more activity on the decline. Bethlehem lost 1/2 point. U. S. Steel 1/4, and Youngstown 1/4. Both Chrysler and General Motors were fractionally lower.

Metals were mixed, fractional gains being shown by Anaconda and Nickel and losses by Smelting and Kennecott.
Westinghouse was an outstanding weak spot in a fall of 1/2 points, but General Electric was a small fraction better.

Curtis-Wright was 1/2 point better on its record-breaking report for 1940. Lockheed was also up that amount, but Douglas lost a half point and United Aircraft and Glenn Martin were unchanged.
Rails were unchanged to lower and oils firm.

Gen. Weygand Says Africa Will Stick To Vichy Regime

Dashes Hopes Of Britain For Detachment Of North Africa From France

By SAMUEL DASHIELL

International News Service Staff
Correspondent

ALGIERS, March 21.—British hopes that North Africa may eventually be detached from the Vichy regime were dashed today by General Maxime Weygand.

In an interview with this correspondent, the 74-year-old warrior reiterated in strongest terms his whole theory of government which is based upon these precepts: "North Africa is France, and France is loyal to chief of state Marshal Henri Philippe Petain."

1.—North Africa is France, and the French fleet and all the forces at her command any attack from any quarter whatever.

Weygand, general delegate of the Vichy government and virtual "protector" of North Africa, received me in his winter headquarters, a 17th century Moorish palace dressed in a grey suit and hat and wearing only the yellow ribbon of the Medaille militaire. Weygand drove up to the palace in a smart American car.

Seated at his desk beneath a portrait of the late Marshal Poch, Weygand spoke with conclusive finality.

"The armed forces of France, like the people of France, are united under Marshal Petain," he said.

"They stand completely ready to resist any encroachment on Africa. It is regrettable that the British attacks upon Oran and Dakar cost the British dearly in the minds of Frenchmen in North Africa."

DAILY DOZEN

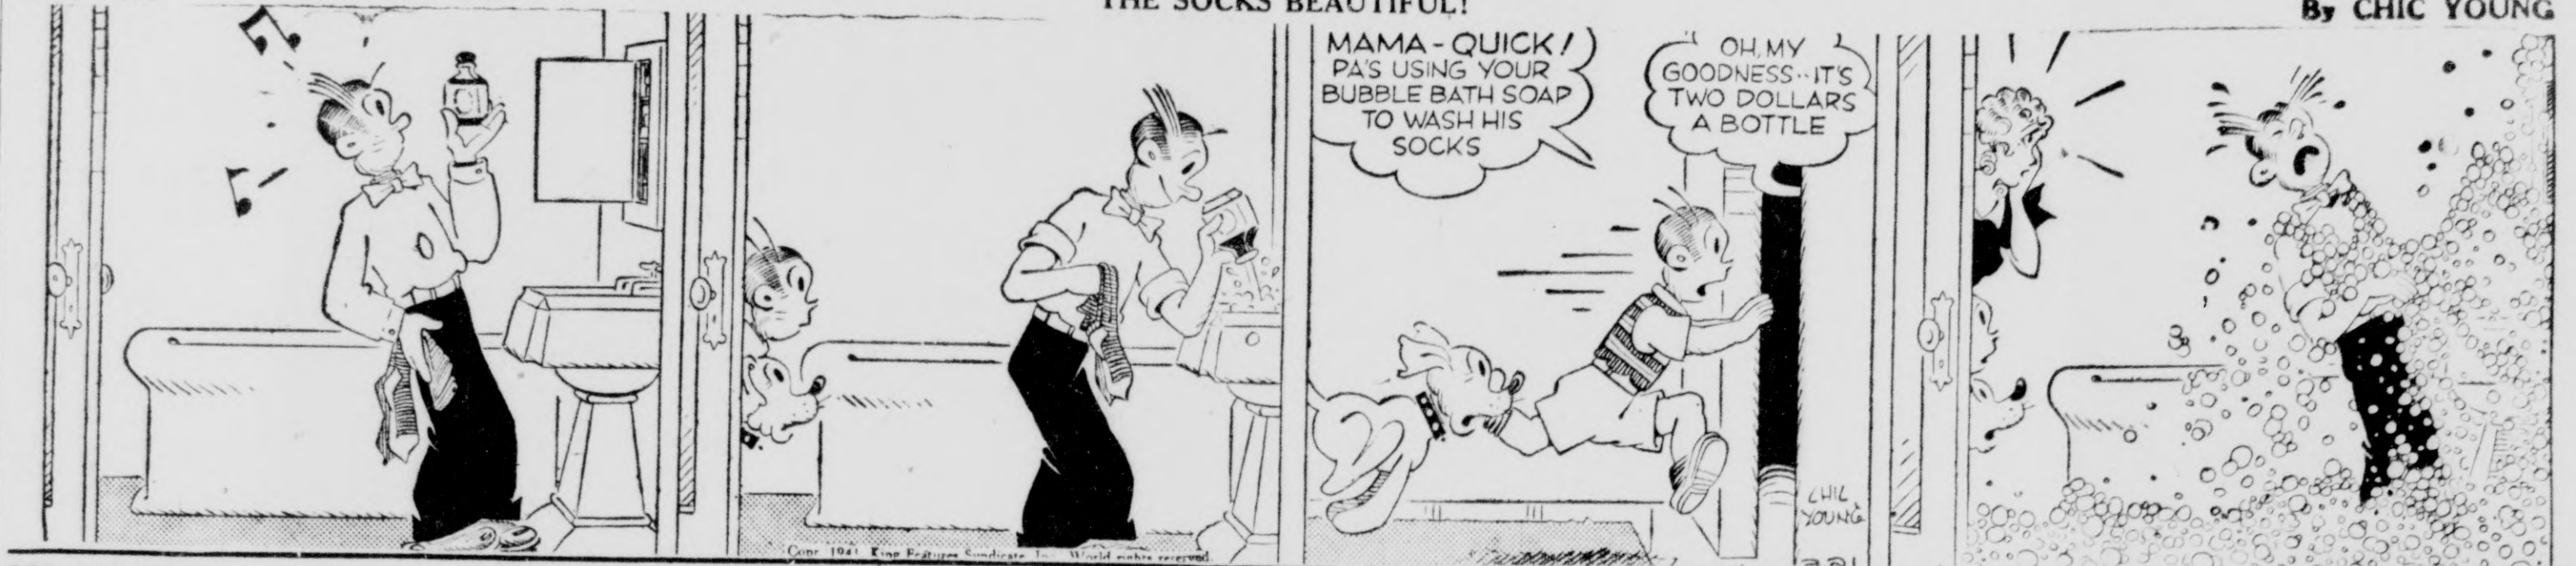

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

"City Enjoys Real Taste of Spring"
A tantalizing headline—for Spring was soon gone.
March is a month of variable weather and teasing temperatures. Winter is reluctant to leave—Spring is coy to arrive.
Cold, damp weather calls for special care.
A bright sun in the morning and we don a lighter overcoat.
By night the air is cold, with a fine snow blowing.
Persons walk in the park and sit on a bench until chilled.
Girls and boys romp until overheated, then sit on damp steps.
A clear sky and a bright sun do not definitely herald Spring.
Summer garments should be delayed until real warmth arrives.
The Great Blizzard of 1888 occurred in March 11-12-13-14.
Infants who are nervous cry a great deal.

NEWSPAPER READING

Some psychologists say a person's interest in life can be measured by his newspaper reading habits. If he finds at least one story of interest to him on each page, he probably lives a "well-rounded life".

Ohio Shows Slight Cut In Relief Load Despite Job Gains

COLUMBUS, O., March 21.—Despite rapid industrial acceleration due to the national defense program, only a comparatively small slash in Ohio's general relief load was shown today in records of the state welfare department.

February reports showed a direct relief case load of 76,153, with 135,099 aid for the aged cases and 103,137 on W. P. A. Allowance for duplication, John Sloan, welfare statistician, set the total February load at 301,172 cases, only 79,000 below the state's all-time peak of 388,000 in January, 1935.

New Registration Day Is Planned

Will Be For Registration Of Youths Becoming 21 Since October 16

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Quiet advance preparations are being made for a second selective service registration day, although only a small percentage of the 16,404,000 men who enrolled last October have been put in uniform.

The second registration would be for men who have reached their 21st birthday since last October 16. By the time it is held, possibly in the late summer or early fall, between 1,000,000 and 1,250,000 will have come of age, population experts figure, and thus will be subject to military service.

Selective service headquarters officials said today only general consideration had been given thus far to the next registration, but advance studies were being made. Under the selective service act, the President must set the date, and this is not considered likely to be before August or September.

Enrollment of the new 21-year-olds was expected to be far less formidable than the task of registering all men between 21 and 35 inclusive, which was carried out in a single day last October. The numbers involved are much smaller, the registration machinery has been tested, and its operation is generally familiar.

Of more immediate urgency, however, were proposals pending on Congress to alter the draft ages substantially, as a transition toward eventual adoption of the European plan of universal military service for men automatically as they reach a specific age, such as 21.

Instead of requiring the registration of all men between 21 and 35, inclusive, the American Legion has sponsored a bill to limit military service liability to men between 18 and 25.

Some selective service officials have indicated they favor the 21-to-25 age bracket.

Construction work in the area is to start April 16.

A conference of War Department and county and state highway officials tomorrow is expected to clear the way for road construction and widening near the plant.

Son Is Held In Fatal Shooting

(International News Service)
EASTON, Pa., March 21.—Joseph Pulsenelli, 72, of Port Murray, N. J., died in an Easton hospital today of a bullet wound suffered when he was shot Wednesday night during a party in his home.

Police held Pulsenelli's son, Frank, 39, who reportedly said he shot his parent in self defense the father fired at him with a shotgun. The shooting followed an argument between the elder Pulsenelli and his wife, police said.

DR. HELEN BRAGDON NAMED LAKE ERIE COLLEGE PRESIDENT
PAINEVILLE, O., March 21.—The appointment of a new president at Lake Erie College here was announced today by James R. Garfield, president of the board of trustees.

Dr. Helen D. Bragdon, dean of Hood College in Frederick, Md., will become the college's fifth president in its 82 years of existence, succeeding Dr. Vivian B. Small, resigned, who has held the position since 1909. Dr. Bragdon will take office in September.

Youthful Slasher Hunted By Police

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, March 21.—Police today sought a youth about 15 years old in connection with the stabbing of Ruth Sharff, 15, Latimer high school pupil, as she was walking home with a girl friend.

The youth sprang from bushes along the street and without uttering a word slashed Ruth once in the abdomen and then fled. She and her companion, Dorothy Han-

Ruth was treated at a hospital and allowed to go home, but was told to return for anti-tetanus treatment. The girls described the youth as a pimply-faced boy about 15 wearing a leather jacket.

Dorothy told police the same boy about four weeks ago jumped between two automobiles and grabbed her as she was walking through

West Park on her way to a movie. She was not harmed, she said.

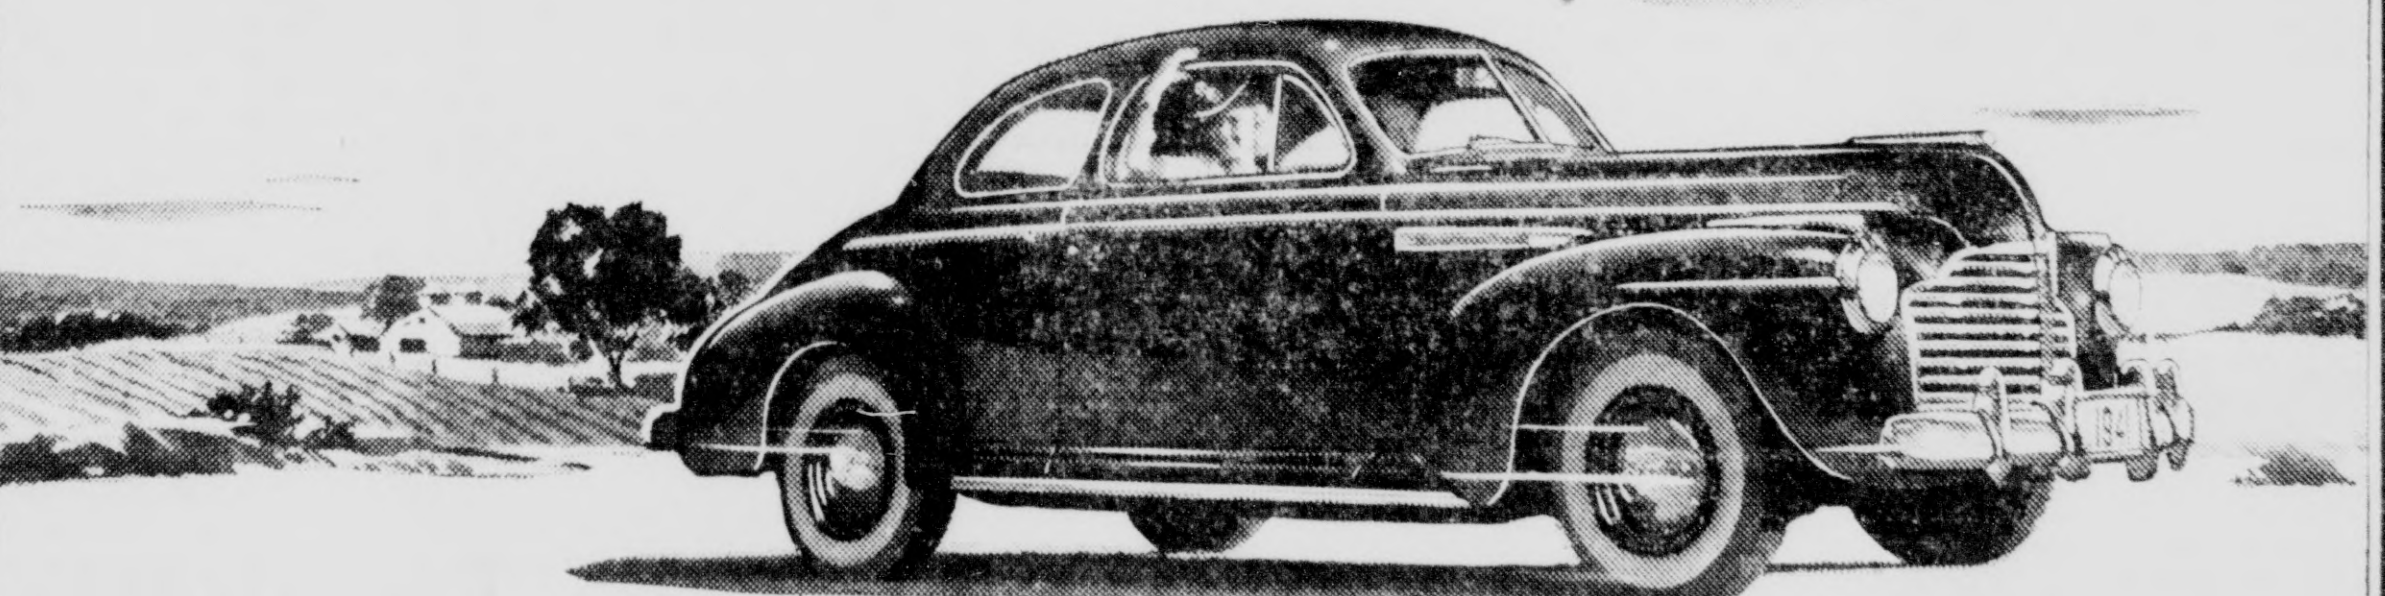

Authorities said another girl, Evangeline Echle, 14, was stopped by a boy about two weeks ago near her home.

AIR'S FREE so why not use it?

GETTING right down to it, one reason why you get as much as 10% to 15% more miles per gallon from a 1941 FIREBALL Buick with Compound Carburetion is that this engine is supplied with more air.

For it is a mixture of gasoline and air that gives you power.

A single carburetor, no matter how many jets it has, can handle only so much air — which is nearly always too little for full-out, high-power performance.

But two carburetors that function as needed, as is the case in Compound Carburetion, can meet any fuel-supply need from low-speed to heavy-power use — and always provide a well-balanced mixture.

They can double the air supply as well as the gasoline feed — and that's something you can't do in any single-carburetor car.

So Compound Carburetion leads to big savings in fuel costs.

You get as much as 800 miles for the gas-cost of 700 in earlier Buicks of the same size.

It also provides a whopping big bank of reserve power, which means an up-and-at-'em lift and surge that's nothing short of thrilling to experience.

And you can have Compound Carburetion, you know, on any 1941 Buick — it's only a few dollars extra on the swell big SPECIAL pictured here, and standard equipment on all other models.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Calif., March 21. — Left-handed Stanford students consider themselves a suppressed minority. Handicapped because classroom chairs are equipped with arms on only the right side, the southpaw undergraduates petitioned the department of grounds and buildings for furniture that would permit them to take notes and examinations without holding their notebooks on their left knees or twisting themselves into awkward postures.

Aliquippa Boy Best Of Relief Hurlers

Joe Beggs Former Geneva College Star Javelin Thrower Now With Reds As Relief Man

Was Formerly Owned By Yanks, Won 12 And Lost Three During 1940 Season

(International News Service) TAMPA, Fla., March 21.—The greatest relief pitcher in the National league and perhaps the best in baseball, was the tribute Manager Bill McKee paid today to Joe Beggs in a discussion of next season's pennant race and the importance of a stout-hearted reliever to a team fighting for a third title in a row.

"All starting pitchers have their off days," McKee said, "but when you have a fellow like Beggs around you are assured of a dozen or so victories that otherwise would be lost games. He is the kind that you can throw into a jam with assurances that the opposition will be stopped. His record of 12 wins against three losses last season proves what I mean. And that is vitally important."

Standing six feet, one inch and weighing around 190 pounds, Beggs comes out of the bullpen in game after game when the starting pitcher falters or has been lifted for a pinch-hitter, and his job is to hold the other team down the rest of the way. More often than not he goes to the mound when the opposition is so hot that the starter has been driven to the showers by a salvo of base hits, runs scored and closed bases, and when he arrives, outcome of the game hangs on what he does immediately thereafter.

Has Fine Record
His record for last season speaks for itself. While winning his 12 against three losses, he allowed 1.99 earned runs pitching 77 innings. Born in Rankin, Pa., and now an Aliquippa, Pa., resident, Beggs has had an unique career in some respects and perpetrated one quip that amused General Manager Warren Giles to such an extent that he called McKee long distance to tell him about it.

In the first place, after winning 12 and losing 46 for the New York Yankees Newark farm in 1939, he was traded to the Reds by the Yankees in January of last year for Lefty Lee Grissom. The latter promptly wound up in the minors, and Beggs right-handed his way to the affection of McKee and to relief pitching stardom with the Reds.

Distraught as he might have been upon leaving the powerful Yankees, he found his niche with a climbing club.

Then, this season, when he received his contract from the Reds he was disappointed in its provisions, but he didn't sulk about it or even threaten to hold out. As Manager McKee tells it, Beggs immediately seized on an opportunity.

Giles Gets Laugh
"I have a habit," McKee said, "of repeating on the bench that a good relief pitcher like Beggs is worth his weight in gold, and he heard me mention it last season. So when we sent him his contract and it fell short of his expectations, he wrote back to Warren Giles saying that he had heard from me that a good relief pitcher was worth his weight in gold and he weighed 200 pounds during the winter. What were we going to do about that?"

Giles called McKee on long distance and read him the letter for a laugh, a new contract was prepared and Beggs is back in there ready to stop them all, and the tougher they go when he trudges from the bull pen to the mound the better he likes it.

St. Vitus Five Church Champs

Win 21 Straight Games In Church Loop, Third Catholic Team To Ever Win Title

PLAYERS AND COACH ARE CONGRATULATED

Coach Tony "Kane" Morgan and his St. Vitus church basketball team is being congratulated on all sides today for their great achievement in winning the Class AA church league championship this year. The St. Vitus team has never been defeated in a church league game this season, and have rung up 21 straight wins.

Epworth's loss to the Baptists on Wednesday night assured the Saints of the championship as Epworth has won eight and lost two, while the St. Vitus team has won 10 and lost 0. Both teams and their church league season this evening, the Epworths playing the Central Presbyterians and the Saints battling the First Methodists.

Have Fine Roster
The St. Vitus team is made up of the following well known and recognized stars—Joe Cooper the leading scorer in the church league, who has scored over 300 points, Freddy Marcella who has tallied quite a large number of points, being second to Cooper, Al Bucci, Victor Ross, Fred Natale, Rags Gennock, Nickie Gennock, Pete Zingaro, Tony DeGello and "Handsome" Sammy Bullano.

The St. Vitus team is the third Catholic team to ever take the church league championship—the others being—St. Michaels coached by Michael "Jake" Babovsky, and Sacred Hearts coached by Andy "Coots" Venditto.

Although Norman Jaeger was out of play twice, once by a serious peaking and once by a broken ankle, he did so well with Milford in the Eastern Shore league that the Giants have promoted him to Clinton for the 1947 season.

'Bookies' Afraid To Make 'Slates'

Before Quoting Odds, They Want To Know About 'Vets'

DRAFT MAY ALSO CAUSE DIFFERENCE

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, March 21.—Broadway bookies usually have their slates on the coming pennant races ready about this time every year.

But they are all afraid to quote odds on any team in either major league before the season opens. "There are a million dollars worth of question marks still down south," said one of the leading bookies today, "and until we get a few correct answers we're not going out on a limb."

"And when I say a million dollars worth of question marks I'm being conservative. For instance, we hear that Billy Jurges won't be able to play before July, if ever. Bill Terry himself has said that Jurges means the difference to the Giants between a spot in the first division or a flop somewhere down with the Phillies."

"Whether the Giants finish fourth or seventh means at least $100,000 at the gate and maybe far more than that. And how much do you suppose the Tigers will lose if Uncle Sam puts the finger on Hank Greenberg? And where do you suppose the Tigers would finish without him?"

"I've been reading a lot about all the new Ty Cobbs and Babe Ruths in the training camps and the stories are all very interesting. But what I want to know for my book is how are the key men going?" "I don't care much about these Johnny-Come-Latelys. They may all be world beaters, for all I know, but to lay a price on any team I want to know what the seasoned veterans are doing."

May Affect Yanks
"For instance, if this young Phil Rizzuto is called by Uncle Sam, that might be a big blow to the Yanks. But who knows? He has yet to make good. The Yanks I want to know about are Lefty Gomez and Bill Dickey."

"If those two old birds are heading for a real come-back, then the Yanks will be an equal choice with the Indians in my book, regardless of whether Rizzuto goes or stays. If I learn that Dickey and Gomez are all washed up, then I'm ready to lay a price against the Yanks, even if they had a dozen Rizzutos."

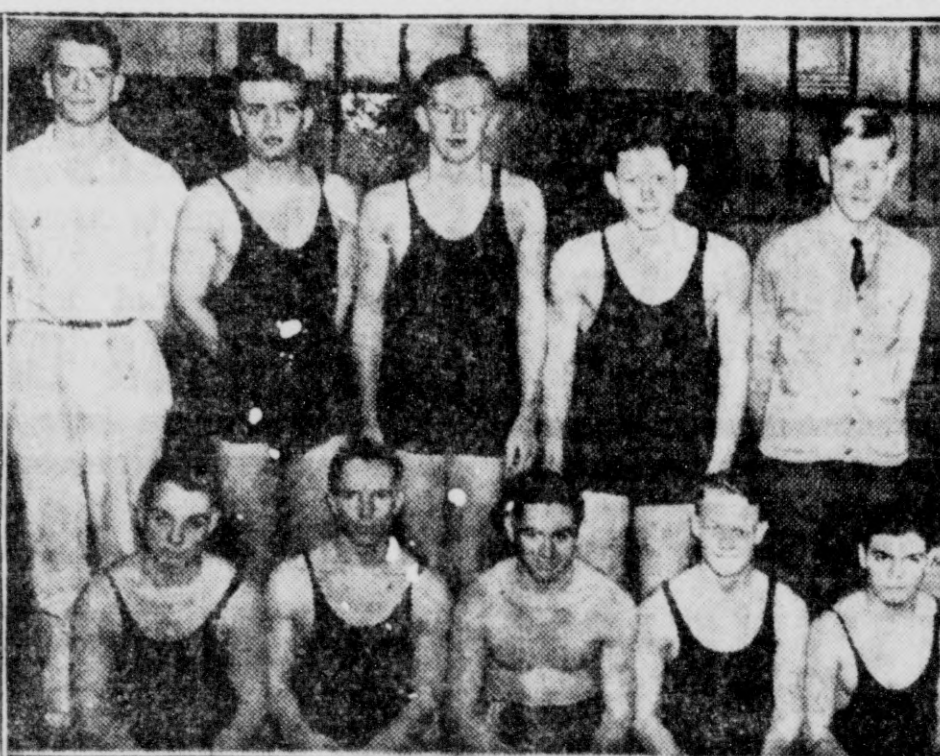

"I'm told that the Cardinals have a sweet pair in Johnny Grodzicki and Steve Mesner. That's swell and I hope it's true. By all accounts, they are burning up the citrus circuit. But this is March. How will they look next August?" "Right now it looks like the Reds will be a strong choice in the National League. But if that Monty Pearson shows he has all his old stuff, I may not even quote a price against them. Imagine how that club will go if Bucky Walters, Paul Derringer, Paul Thompson and Pearson are all taking their regular turn in the box?"

Fannins Scheduled For Girard Tourney

The Fannin basketball team will journey to Girard, Ohio, this evening for a Girard City Recreation fund tournament game with the Warren Packards. There are about 40 teams entered in the tourney.

Some of the tourney teams are—Sharon Mallables, Youngstown Fords, Hubbard I. W. O. F. Warren All-Stars, and other class A teams from western Pennsylvania and eastern Ohio.

Have Eyes On Next Year

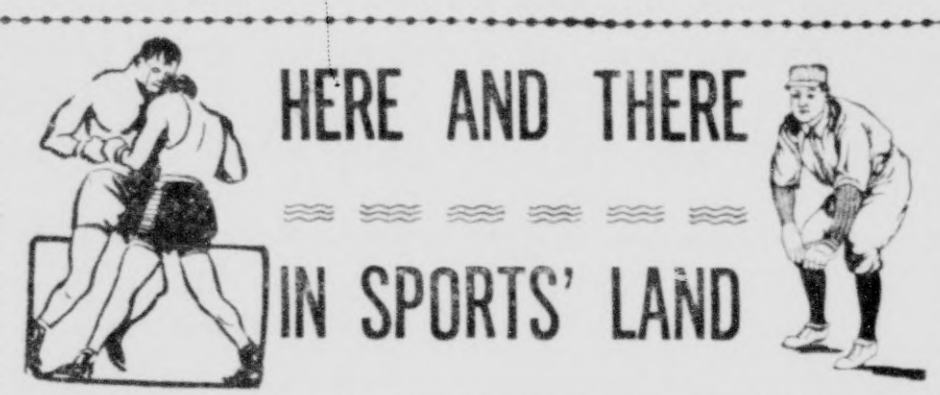

NEW WILMINGTON, March 21.—Winning three out of ten swimming meets this season, these Westminister Titan tankers expect to "clean up the league" next year. They will lose no men through graduation except Brownscombe, Aliquippa senior.

Westminister swimmers defeated Grove City twice and Allegheny once this season, and lost meets to Penn twice, Western Reserve, Carnegie Tech, W. and J., and Slippery Rock twice.

Highest point-getters for the Titans this year have been Charles Hamel, 87; William Scheid, 59; Captain Warren Pollock, 150; Harry Brownscombe, 36; Don Brooks, 29; Robert Flickinger, 29; Chalmers Houston, 16; Dick Long, Edgewood, 4; and Paul Meckelson and John Gealy, one each.

Cocker Spaniels top the entries in the Mahoning-Senango Kennel club's annual dog show Saturday and Sunday at Rayen-Wood auditorium, Youngstown. The "break-down" of the official list reveals that there are 50 Cocker Spaniels entered, which is 17 more than last year, according to the Youngstown Vindicator. Collies hold second place with 23, followed by 20 Chow Chows, 18 Doberman Pinschers, 14 Scottish terriers, 13 wire-haired Fox terriers and 13 Boxers.

Bernard F. Oakes, who left the University of Colorado under die, has signed a three year contract to coach football at Wyoming U. He succeeded C. H. Blanchard, who has been named dean of students. Oakes left Colorado in 40, after 35 grid-ironers had charged him with "physical violence including kicking and violation of conference rules."

Campbell Kane, Indiana star miler, ran the invitational mile in the Michigan A. A. U. relays at Ann Arbor in 4:13.8. Max Lenoyer of Chicago Loyola, finished second and Ralph Schwartzkopf, former Michigan ace, landed third. A Michigan relay team clipped one-tenth second off the mile record in beating Notre Dame, Central Intercollegiate champion, in 3:19.7.

Rollin Horne, brother of Sonny, in the second round of a boxing tourney now under way in Youngstown, defeated Henry Wise in three chapters and Eddie Sullivan defeated Cy Blakley at the same weight. In the 125 pound class, Frank Cordy won from Steve Acerno. At 112, Louie Carikido beat Bill Kearney. Niles, Joe Kripick lost to Shed Bell at 175 and Alex Boris won from Mike Kornicki, in a heavyweight fight.

Baseball Teams Getting Anxious

City Baseball League Will Have First Meeting In Few Weeks, Is Reported

With the advent of spring the city baseball league teams are getting anxious to get out-of-doors and get going on the 1947 preparations. It will not be so very long now until the teams can get on the practice fields.

A meeting of the City Baseball league managers will be held the first or second week in April for discussions, it was announced. It is understood that several new teams may take out league franchises this season. The Lawrence Indies will be the defending champions.

Many of the teams have already held meetings and have their organizations well under way.

Wabash Bears Go To Farrell

The Wabash Bears basketball team will leave at 5 o'clock this evening for Farrell to participate in a Mercer County tournament game at the Farrell High floor.

Manager William Domenick will take a strong squad to the tourney and is confident of winning in his division. Besides the regular Bears team that took part in the city-county tourney the addition of the Razzano brothers of Mt. Jackson and Joe Clazza will give the Mahoningtownians, a classy lineup.

TROUT SEASON TO START APRIL 15

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, March 21.—More than 1,200,000 brook, brown and rainbow trout within the past fortnight have been placed in public fishing streams, the state board of fish commissioners disclosed today.

Stocking of streams at this time of the year marks a departure from custom. Chairman C. A. French said, inasmuch as this usually is done in late fall for early winter ice and floods in recent years caused heavy loss of fish.

The stocked trout range in size from six to 19 inches and come from nine state hatcheries. The trout season opens April 15.

Church League Games Tonight

Three more games are on the menu for the New Castle church basketball league fans at the "Y" floor tonight. The first game at 7:45 o'clock will have the First Presbyterians the league high scoring champs playing the First Baptists.

In the second game the Class AA championship St. Vitus team will battle the First Methodists. In the third game the Epworth quintet will tangle with the Central Presbyterians.

Jack Welsh, the 147-pound back who starred with Penn this season has two more years to play.

Louis And Simon To Fight Tonight

Heavyweight Champion Expected To Take Care Of Abe Simon In Early Rounds

By RUSSELL FULLER

(International News Service Sports Writer) DETROIT, March 21.—Like many men before him and cherishing an understandable but probably futile hope, all 250 pounds of Abe Simon will climb through the ropes at Olympia tonight to face the murderous punches of Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis in a 20-round title bout.

The gigantic Simon, who in addition to his weight towers 6 feet 4 inches into the air, will stake his ring career against the cunning Louis in the Brown Bomber's third defense of his title this year.

Louis, fighting in his hometown before what Promoter Mike Jacobs thinks will be a sellout crowd of 15,000 or 16,000, was an overwhelming favorite to clout the hefty Simon into oblivion early in the fight. As he has so many other men who have wandered against him under the glaring lights to be speedily flattened. Most observers thought the fight would be over in four rounds.

From 1933, when Wayne Millnar was playing, until this season no Notre Dame man had ever played a full 60 minutes. Joe Laher and Paul Lillis went the route this year against Iowa.

Long Island Coach Pays Titans Tribute

By CHARLES A. LANDOLF
(News Special Correspondent)
NEW YORK, March 21.—Part of journalism's "400," with the elite of the collegiate basketball coaching fraternity as special guests, did a little Monday morning quarterbacking during a swanky luncheon meeting in the Prudential hotel Thursday afternoon.

Following a sumptuous luncheon that included everything, including the finger bowl, the gentlemen of the press, if we may, and the mentors rolled up their sleeves, pulled down their hair and replaced the opening rounds of the Metropolitan tournament.

Washabaugh Speaks

Grover C. Washabaugh, Westminster college chieftain, was one of the speakers. The genial tutor thanked the committee for selecting the Titans as one of the eight teams to participate in the bouncer bowl. "I hope we did not disappoint you gentlemen. The boys were jittery, a fact that was inevitable, considering that more than 18,000 fans were on hand. I do hope Westminster gets another chance to appear in the tourney, an opportunity to make up for last night's showing. I assure you Westminster's officials and I will accept," Washabaugh said.

He complimented Clair Bee, coach of Long Island, who handed a flock of accolades to the scribes for the way in which they have written about the New Wilmington school. He closed by commending Ned Irish, Everett B. Morris and the remainder of the committee for the excellent tournament.

Clair Bee, whose mighty quintet eliminated the Lawrence contingent, was loud in his praise of Westminster. He disclosed for the first time that he scouted the Titans in New Wilmington, March 8, when the Pennsylvanians easily romped over Carnegie Tech, 60-40. "I tell you gentlemen I came back to New York a worried coach. I was unusually dubious about the game this was due to the trip I took that snowy and cold night. I watched Westminster and marvelled at their precision, passing ability and general all around cage tactics."

"The team we beat last night (Wednesday) was not the same team I saw in action against Tech. I believe that the large crowd and the size of the Garden were big factors against Westminster. Spak and Fox played unusually well. Westminster was off and we were on, that's why we won," the famous mentor stated.

"Chick" Davies, Duquesne coach, Nat Holman, C. C. N. Y., and a number of other famous tutors spoke.

NEW YORK, March 20.—During the opening quarter of the Metro cage tourney game with Long Island, the Titans unfurled the smoothest and most effective defense seen in the Garden this season. This is the general opinion shared by main stem scribes and coaches. The Pennsylvanians functioned so smoothly in the first chunk that the Blackbirds were at a loss. Two desperate long heaves actually put them in the game shortly before the period ended.

Most of the boys would give anything to get another crack at the Long Island machine. "I honestly believe the outcome would be different," Ridd opined. "We missed a lot of easy ones, didn't we?" Stan Wasik queried. Lee Fox and Joe Spak, the classiest pair in the L. I. Titan class, so far as this corner is concerned, accepted the loss as a stiff blow. "We sure had a bad game in our system. It would have to be in New York," Fox remarked.

Westminster took one less shot than the victorious aggregation. The Islanders heaved 68 shots, connecting 22 times. The Titans tossed in 14 out of 67. The 1834 gallery on hand was a new attendance record for basketball in the Garden. Even in defeat, Westminster is still a champion. Coach Washabaugh received more than 75 telegrams from New Wilmington, most of them stating "The Titans are still champions to us."

From an exceedingly reliable source, your newsboy learned that the Titans will be considered again in 1942, provided they play together a good enough record. "Their showing last night is a closed issue," our informant said. "Members of the committee feel that the boys had one of those bad nights that befall any kind of a sports team during a season." The Titans' behavior, both on the floor and along the avenues, has brought about favorable comment.

Anita Louise, the film beauty, has been on hand for the event. She sat a few seats away from the Titan squad several nights back. The winsome blonde star autographed a few of the programs for the Westminster players. We were Everett B. Morris' guest at the scribes' shindig. Morris is the crack New York Herald-Tribune basketball editor and one of the daddies of the tourney; Tom Hopkins, Jack Sell and Eddie Beachler, Pittsburgh writers, were on hand too.

The Westminster party will remain in New York until after the gigantic event, guests of the tournament committee. In addition to hotel arrangements, the committee is treating the party to such attractions as "Hellzapoppin'" and several radio broadcasts. Assistant Coach David M. Boyd was among the mentors sitting in on the writers' luncheon. Boyd's pleasant personality has struck a happy tune with writers and coaches.

DEBT CAUSE OF POOR MATCHES

One-Sided Bouts Result When Donor Years For Pay-Off

By PAT ROBINSON

(International News Service Writer)
NEW YORK, March 21.—Fight fans often wonder why a promoter sometimes ignores a match the fans consider a "natural" and instead books one in which he figures to make less money for himself.

Well, we are just in the proper mood today to break down and explain just why some of these apparent one-sided matches are foisted on the long-suffering fight fan. Here goes:

Sometimes the promoter wishes to return a favor; sometimes he wants to give a fight manager who has been up against it a break; occasionally sufficient political pressure has been brought to bear on him to force his hand.

Owe Promoter Jacobs
But almost always the true reason for poor matches is to be found in the fact that certain fighters and their managers are "in" to the promoter for so much dough that he has to use them to get back some of his money.

Promoter Mike Jacobs—the angel of the fight racket—has had as much as $125,000 outstanding at one time among fighters and managers and small time promoters. All that money was, as the boys in the racket say "on the cuff" and Mike's only chance to get even is to go along with the fellows who owe him money. And you'd be surprised to learn how unreasonable they can become when they know they have Mike out on a limb.

Boston Bruins Defeat Toronto

(International News Service)
The Boston Bruins, national hockey league champs, today were given a good chance of coping the Stanley cup if they continue the type of play that last night enabled them to knock off the Toronto Maple Leafs 3-to-1 in the opener of the best-of-seven series to determine the world's hockey champion.

The Boston center, Bill Cowley, the league's top scorer, suffered a knee injury and Bobby Bauer, Boston right wing, received a cut on his left thigh during the hard-played game. Both men may be lost for the remainder of the series.

In Detroit, the New York Rangers, playing in the best of a two-out-of-three series, dropped a 2-to-1 overtime game to the Detroit Red Wings. The Chicago Black Hawks, in another two-out-of-three series, turned back to Montreal Canadiens by a similar 2-to-1 score.

Play will be resumed tomorrow when the Leafs and the Bruins again clash at Boston and the Hawks and Canadiens meet at Montreal. The Red Wings will resume competition with the Rangers in New York on Sunday night.

Grover Alexander Hospital Patient

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, March 21.—Broke and without a job, Grover Cleveland Alexander, one of the greatest baseball players of all time, has been in the Bronx Veterans' hospital for the last three weeks, it was disclosed today.

The 34-year-hurler, whose name is enshrined in baseball's hall of fame at Cooperstown, N. Y., one of the game's immortals, entered the hospital after appealing in vain to organized baseball for a manager's job.

"Alex the Great," who won the hero role in the "26" world series by fanning Tony Lazzari with the bases full in the deciding game, is being treated for a condition brought about by shell-shock during the war 23 years ago.

Of these shares, a niece Mabel Otto of Rochester, Pa., gets one share, another niece Clara Young gets one share, a nephew John Wright of Bridgewater, Pa., gets one half McQuiddy has received a number of letters and editorials on the bill, commending him upon his legislation. A companion bill has been entered in the house by Assemblyman Presley N. Jones.

A little persuasion sometimes gets results. On Thursday morning Commissioner Will R. Walton auctioned off a piece of property in Union township, some 22 acres in size. Two bidders were present, each one wanting the land. It had been abandoned for taxes some years ago and is not particularly desirable except as grazing land. The bids started at $25. Up twenty five, up ten, up five and then a lot of five dollar raising until the price got to $325 at which price it was sold.

Many delinquencies in taxes are being paid into the county treasurer's office due to the impending sale of properties. More than that a number of discrepancies have shown up. Tax payers have produced receipts showing they paid the tax, errors in assessment have been straightened out and in the past three weeks a host of the properties have been cleared.

Level Of Business Remains Stationary

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, March 21.—For the third consecutive week the level of business in the Pittsburgh area, remained almost stationary, it was reported today by the bureau of business research, University of Pittsburgh.

Moderate increases in production and shipments were largely offset by a slight decline in the adjusted volume of trade, according to the bureau, which set its index for the week at 140.4 per cent of the 1923-25 average. The preceding week the index was set at 140.0 per cent.

Although no change was reported in the number of blast furnaces in operation, the steel industry in the Pittsburgh area last week passed the 100 per cent of theoretical operations mark.
